

Sandra Goolsby
Capital University Law School

Ms. Goolsby earned bachelor's degrees in Psychology and Sociology at The Ohio State University. She worked as a Child Welfare Caseworker with victims of sexual and physical abuse before beginning her legal career at Capital Law School where she currently pursues a litigation concentration as a 3L evening student. As a survivor of sexual assault herself, she plans to begin her own solo practice specializing in plaintiff's work for sexual misconduct. Sandra joined WLFC following an invitation from a mentor who has connected her with various resources and professionals. She is grateful for these connections and plans to pay this help forward someday as part of a continuing cycle of embodying WLFC's motto, "We are our own best resource."
